

About CPEAR

Today, 54% of Americans live in a state where adult-use cannabis is legal. Although cannabis legalization is already underway, a federal framework to regulate the cannabis marketplace is absent. A highly regulated system at the federal level is necessary to protect consumers and ensure a more fair industry.

OUR MISSION

The Coalition for Cannabis Policy, Education, and Regulation (CPEAR) mission is to advance a comprehensive federal regulatory framework for cannabis. CPEAR strives to be a trusted, science-driven resource for lawmakers and the larger stakeholder community to develop responsible policies that provide access to cannabis while protecting consumers and patients, barring underage use, and upholding public health and safety.

CPEAR is the place to design a system around best practices and wage a full-scale campaign through communications, lobbying, and grasstops to have a significant influence on cannabis policy.

A 501(c)(4) non-profit organization, CPEAR is based in Washington, D.C.

CPEAR CO-CHAIRS

Tom Daschle (D-SD)
Former U.S. Senate
Majority Leader

Chair Greg Walden (R-OR)
Former U.S. Representative and NRCC

For contact info and to learn more, visit CPEAR.org or email info@CPEAR.org

CPEAR has made our voice loud and clear – by publishing multiple policy-focused papers, convening a Center of Excellence comprised of policy experts, and establishing a space to engage with other key stakeholders of federal cannabis reform.

CPEAR has been featured in:

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

The Washington Post

MARIJUANA  MOMENT

POLITICO PRO

The New York Times

Forbes

abc NEWS

CNN